Global Warming is a LIE!

Story: By 2020, kiss the snows of Kilimanjaro goodbye

You guys are really sucked into this eco-religious global warming pap. It is pure garbage, nothing but gloom and doom for profit.

1) The Earth has been seeing significant rises and falls in both temperature and co2 levels since the dawn of time. The last time we got warm, it was called the medieval climate optimum. Look it up. It was not catastrophic at all, nor did life on earth cease to exist. It was considered optimum then, but now it is a crisis?

There are ice ages and warm periods as evidenced by ice cores and tree ring samples. We are breaking no new ground here, except possibly the level of deception that you have been sold. Kill me if I misquote, but wasn't it hitler that said that if you repeat a lie enough, people will believe it. Adolph's mantra lives on in the enviro-left of today.

2) It is pure arrogance to think that man has control over the climate on a large scale. If we could change the weather, wouldn't we eliminate killer tornadoes, hurricanes, typhoons, etc? Alarmism is easy, what is your plan? Everyone put their cars in a lock box and give them to algore while he jets around the country? Impress me eco-fools, change the weather even one little iota. If you can do that I will stop calling you fools.

3) Do you really think that doubling the gas mileage on your Saab or eliminating every source of carbon based energy for 10 years would actually reduce co2 levels? Maybe try better environmental policy on our public lands. Environmentalists attempting to convert industrial forests to wild lands through neglect have burned down what, 30, 40 million acres of forests in the last 15 years?> How much CO2 did that give off?The proposals offered so far would have no effect in the grand scheme of things, other than a lot of pain for the common man.

4) How many active volcanoes are there in the world right now? Those spew billions of tons of pollutants (and CO2)every year, many times more that man and industry combined in my estimation. The ones in the ocean also cause sea surface warming and put off a tremendous amount of steam. BTW, the #1 greenhouse gas in concentration is water vapor. If you just stop the volcanoes, you can significantly drop both CO2 and water vapor levels, and a host of other pollutants. It still wouldn't change the earth's temperature.

Point #5 IT IS CALLED THE SUN! The sun is what warms the earth. If you check solar output against global temperature measurements you will find that they follow the same path. The sun heats us, and when it is hotter, it stands to reason that we get hotter too. If you are so positive that global warming is anthropogenic (man made), explain why Mars is also warming at the same pace as solar output and the earth increases and decreases. Is man sooooo evil that he has already spread global warming to other planets?> Get serious.

6) Your sources are tainted and in some cases fraudulent. If you are a climate researcher and you find that there is no crisis, where is your research grant for next year coming from? To have an ongoing job, you need an ongoing crisis. This applies to the IPCC, climate researchers, the various green organizations like the NRDC, sierra club and their ilk. As far as the fraud, Mann's hockey stick graph has been proven to be an intentional fraud. It makes the same shape no matter what numbers are put in by the way that the model handles (and eliminates unfavorable) data.

7) I am tired of hearing how almost every scientist in the world is on board with the global warming fraud. It isn't so. There is this thing called the Petition Project. It is where over 17,000 VERIFIED scientists signed the following statement against the signing of the Kyoto
